Our passion for excellence drives everything that we do

We have first hand industry experience so we understand your issues

We deliver results through our proven World Class approach

The best from each improvement toolkit applicable across a wide range of industry sectors

At Henkan, we have extensive experience of the whole spectrum of Continuous Improvement (CI) tools:

Total Productive Maintenance (TPM)

The full scope of TPM application in accordance with JIPM methodology through our accredited instructors.

World Class Manufacturing (WCM)

Comprehensive understanding and application of WCM, aligned to the Professor Yamashina model.

Lean

Wide ranging application of the Lean philosophy based upon the Toyota Production System (TPS) across manufacturing, supply chain and transactional processes.

The Intelligent Blend

Our expertise in these three traditional areas enables us to blend the application of each, to satisfy the specific needs of our clients.

An example would be a robust application of TPM within an existing Lean programme, or the application of Lean tools within a TPM/WCM programme.

Our Intelligent Blend also calls upon the use of Six Sigma tools in a selective and appropriate manner.

Henkan are not simply theory-based consultants. All our team have been successful senior managers, implementing major change and improvement programmes as employees of large blue chip organisations.

Our team have accumulated a wealth of experience across a diverse range of organisational roles in manufacturing and across entire supply chains including, plant management, departmental heads, project managers and technical experts leading projects that have delivered significant benefits.

In addition to significant technical expertise - our consultants are also selected for their proven experience in engaging people in the delivery of successful CI programmes.

This competence to engage people in a practical manner has been gained through application over many years in the 'real world'.

This experience has provided us with the empathy to understand the challenges of our clients in successfully navigating both the technical and people challenges encountered on the journey to excellence.

Our expertise satisfies the specific needs of your business.

The Henkan Way

At Henkan we transform you and your business performance through our passion for excellence. We are international business transformation specialists, servicing global blue chip organisations at their multi-site operations around the world. Excellence can only be achieved by engaging your people in applying an intelligent blend of Continuous Improvement tools to transform your performance and sustain improvements over the long term. This holistic approach is what we call The Henkan Way.

Three core inter-dependent elements underpin The Henkan Way philosophy:

- Leadership: providing the context and drive for change with a focus on building capabilities, positive behaviours and engagement in a success culture.
- Tools: selected appropriately against an organisation's individual context and capability, whether they be WCM, TPM, Lean, Six Sigma, or an intelligent blend.
- Roadmap: recognising that the transformation is a journey that requires systematic planning and management to ensure milestones are achieved.

We strive to develop the ability of the people and processes within organisations to create a culture of sustainable and profitable World Class excellence. Success comes through the skill of our consultants and our philosophy for business transformation - The Henkan Way.

We use our Energy, Empathy and Expertise to address the capability, culture and needs specific to each individual organisation, allowing us to apply an intelligent blend of continuous improvement tools. We have first-hand industry experience, so we understand your issues. We transfer our knowledge into your organisation to deliver results through our proven World Class approach. This not only provides immediate, tangible benefits, but also ensures the longevity of your improvement programme.

The Henkan philosophy is to create a culture of sustainable and profitable World Class excellence in your business.

The support from Henkan is contributing to speed up and reinforce our program. I want to mention the cooperation with Henkan for the senior Auditing process which represent the key frame to keep consistency and pace.
